

Focus on the Future!

Week Two

This week's bulletin is to help continue your careers research but by linking your career ideas to one of your favourite school subjects.

Careers linked to your Favourite Subjects

If you still find yourself unsure of ideas you could try thinking about your favourite school subjects. These could be subjects you find particularly interesting. They could be subjects that you always enjoy or find that you do especially well in. You might be surprised to see that there are many jobs related to subjects in school that you may not have realised.

For example, did you know that studying drama could lead to careers in law or community arts project management? Or have you considered that studying computer science can lead to careers in visual effects artistry or even robotics engineering?

There may be more to your favourite subject than you think. Many employers will consider the transferable skills you will have gained whilst studying a subject and you can adapt those to a wider range of careers than you may initially think.

Why not investigate what careers are linked to your own favourite subjects, please use the link below which will take you to Success at School.org who has produced fantastic careers guides for each subject offered in school.

Or, if you're tired of reading.....

Careers and Coffee is a new live stream set up by the New Anglia Local Enterprise Partnership and will be offering weekly insights into a range of careers. They will be interviewing a judge, fashion model, chief executive, and many more professionals about their job and career path.

These will take place every Tuesday and Thursday at 12.30pm

These are the links to the introduction and the first week. They will all be posted on the New Anglia Local Enterprise YouTube channel.
